Protecting Soft Targets: Israeli-American Security Experts Exchange Best Practices

Tuesday, October 6th, 2009 08:00-16:00

Stanbro Room at The Boston Park Plaza Hotel & Towers
50 Park Plaza, Boston, MA (limited seating)

Recent incidents, both domestic and international, have demonstrated, once again, the importance of soft targets protection strategies. The multitude of threats, soft targets are faced with, require early planning and clear mitigation strategy. Paradoxically, the hardening of targets post 9/11 in the U.S., have shifted the threats and risks toward soft targets.

Implementing security best practices which are based on longstanding experience in Israel and the U.S. can dramatically improve the ability of organizations to prevent, mitigate, and recover from adversarial, man-made threats.

Join us to hear experts, both from Israel and the US, provide valuable insights on what can be done to protect soft targets.

Scheduled to speak are:

DOV SHILOAH

Former high ranking member of the Israeli intelligence community

BONNIE S. MICHELMAN

Director of Police, Security and Outside Services, Massachusetts General Hospital

DAN RATTNER

Principal, D.M. Rattner & Associates

CHIEF THOMAS G. ROBBINS

Executive Director of Public Safety, Boston University
