

Kimberly Coburn

As founder and principal of The Coburn Company, a premier leadership development and executive coaching firm, Kimberly Coburn brings energy, insight and results that clients such as Sepracor, TJX, Massachusetts General Hospital, and The Constitution Museum have come to expect and appreciate.

Kim founded The Coburn Company in 1999 and has more than 20 years of business and human resources experience in diverse industries including retail, pharmaceutical, healthcare, high tech, staffing and non-profit. In addition to her expertise in executive and career coaching, Kim provides team building and conflict management services to aid individuals and teams in reaching their full potential.

Kim is certified to facilitate a vast range of training and assessments including: Brain Dominance / Creative Thinking Workshop (Herrmann International), Myers Briggs Type Indicator, Situational Self Leadership (Blanchard), Situational Leadership, Interactive Management (DDI), What Matters Most (Franklin Covey) and Team Goals (McLagen).

After receiving a Bachelor's Degree from Salem State College, Kim did postgraduate work in Education and Biochemistry in England at The University of London. She received a coaching certificate from Corporate Coach University and holds a certificate in Human Resource Management from Bentley College. She is a sought-after, entertaining speaker. Some of her speaking engagements have included the Bentley College Alumni Association on Work Life Balance and the Career Counselors Association's Annual Meeting on Job Search Effectiveness.

Kim is an active member of the Northeast Human Resources Association and the International Coach Federation.
